DYSPEPSIA.

It is misery experienced when we suddenly become aware that we possess a dyspeptic stomach. The stomach is the reservoir from which every drop of food and drink must be absorbed, and any trouble with it is a serious matter.
Dyspepsia is a disease of the stomach, and is characterized by indigestion, flatulence, and a general feeling of discomfort. It is a disease which may be cured by the use of the Sims' Stomach Regulator.

The underlying cause is in the LIVER, and one thing more is equally certain, no one will remain a dyspeptic who will use the
Sims' Stomach Regulator.

It will correct Acidity of the Stomach,
Expel flat gases,
Alleviate indigestion,
Assist Digestion,
and, at the same time,
Start the Liver to working, when all other troubles soon disappear.

"My wife was a confirmed dyspeptic. Some three years ago she was advised by Dr. Brier, of Augusta, she was induced to try Sims' Liver Regulator. I feel grateful for the relief it has given her, and may all who read this and are afflicted in any way whether chronic or otherwise, use Sims' Liver Regulator and I feel certain that they will be cured. It is a wonderful medicine."—Wm. M. Kusan, Fort Valley, Ga.

"He will go out and fish, so he

from this, my child, not to get in the way, or you will be put to one side like this big man." He is in the way. He will be out of the way in him in their way. He will play with things that hurt him."

"What does he play with?"
"He plays with 'free wool,' the tariff and old soldiers' feelings.
When he gets hurt with these things he cries. So, folks tire of him, and will ask him to get out of their way.

The steamer, Great Eastern, has made her last voyage. She has been taken to the seaport town, Traumere, England, and beached, preparatory to being broken up.

It is now conceded that the corn crop of Kansas will be fully 200, 000,000 bushels; this, at thirty cents a bushel will amount to $60, 000,000. The gross value of corn wheat and oats in that state will be about $90,000,000.

A stock train running at a high rate of speed ran into a cattle train near Fort Buford, Minn., on the Montana Road, Sunday night and wrecked seventeen cars. One hundred cattle were killed and five trainmen injured, three of them probably fatally.

Tonto Basin is the finest portion of Arizona, but it is cursed with a gang of outlaws and robbers, who hesitate at no crime in the calendar. The authorities of Arizona should clean out the nest of outlaws infesting that portion of the territory, and not be merciful in the manner of doing the job.—Albuquerque Citizen.

The wife of a wealthy business man of Bronson, Mo., in her haste to leave Kansas City last Friday, forgot to make up her bustle, and a telegram to the hotel proprietor some hours afterward informed him that $1,000 was in the package, sewed up in a towel, which had been left in her room, and which had been worn as a bustle. The package was found and the money was all right.

The will of the late Chas. Crocker, second vice-president of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, was filed in the probate court last week.
Mrs. Mary A. Crocker, widow of the deceased, is appointed executress. The estate is worth something over $25,000,000 and is divided as follows: Real estate, $2, 800,000; stocks and bonds, $12, 000,000; accounts, $1,500,000; pro-miscellaneous, $8,500,000.

A justice in Indiana who had endeavored vainly to recover $20 he had loaned an acquaintance had the latter before him as a witness recently, and managed quickly to stir him up to an outburst of ire that fitted a fine of $20 for contempt of court. The justice, who remained cool and collected (the $20), may be said to have got in his fine work.—Rathland Herald.

Helping the Right Side.
To help the right side is not only commendable in a general point of view, but is judicious and prudent when that help is enlisted in behalf of the right side of the body, just over the lower ribs in the region of the liver. The most effective help is afforded by Hast-etter's Stomach Bitters, an antibilious medicine of incomparable efficacy. Indigestion of the liver is accompanied by constipation, sick-headache, torpid tongue, nausea, occasional vertigo, an unpleasant breath, yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye. The author of these symptoms, liver complaint, routed by them in its flight. Fever and ague, which always involves the liver, dyspepsia, rheumatism, debility and kidney troubles, are all maladies to the early relief and final cure of which this standard medicine is adapted. Don't use it by fits and starts, but systematically, that its full effects may result in a perfect restoration of health.

Think of the Trouble of the Big Men.
"See the big man. He is Grover Cleveland."
"Why does he look so tired?"
"He has to wait so long."
"What does he wait for?"
"He is waiting for Daniel to write his letter of acceptance for him."
"Is it hard to write it?"
"Well, under the circumstances, it is very hard."
"Can't not the big man write?"
"He can write some things, my child, but not this letter. He can write v-e-t-o's."
"What will the big man do while Daniel writes?"
"He will go out and fish, so he will not be in Daniel's way. Learn from this, my child, not to get in
less than a year. Folks do not want
things that hurt him."

tariff and old soldiers' feelings.

A Cheap Marriage.
While a justice of the peace of a country town was warming his feet by the stove, and his nose by a pipe, a stranger entered and presently inquired:

"Judge, how much will you charge me to read about fifteen lines of printed matter from a book I have?"

"Why, can't you read them?" asked his Honor.

"I can, but I want to hear how they sound wh. read about. I'll give you a quarter to read them to me."

"All right," said the justice. "I can't earn two shillings easier."

"A woman opened the door at that moment and the stranger put the book down on the desk, clasped her hand and said: "Begin at the pencil mark there, and read very slowly."

His Honor's chin dropped exactly eighteen inches by dry measure, as he saw that the reading matter was the usual form of marriage; but he didn't back down from his word. It was the cheapest marriage he ever attended, and he didn't half enjoy the chuckles of the bride and groom as they went out.—N. Y. World.

A Sound Legal Opinion.
E. Bainbridge Munday, County Attorney of Clay County, Tex., says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother was also very low with malaria fever and jaundice, but he was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

D. I. Wilcoxson of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimonial, saying that he positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off as well as cure all malarial diseases, and for all kidney, liver and stomach disorders stands unequaled. Price, 50c and $1. at D.
J. Brannen's drug store.

Altered the Case.
"Will you please lend me your elite toilet, madam?" asked the tramp of the lady who had answered the ring.

"I haven't any," replied the lady with some asperity.

"Really! I am amazed to hear it.
In that case a little cold chicken, mutton, and a small piece of cake will do for my lunch. I intended to ask for a bottle of wine, but if you are not one of the elite I should be afraid to risk it."—Chicago News.

Torlina's Bazaar.
The immense array of carpets at John D. Torlina's Bazaar exceeds anything heretofore seen in Albuquerque, being truly wonderful.
Of every grade, quality and kind from cheap ingrain, to the finest Wilton Velvet, ranging in price from 35c to 75c, to $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, from 75c per yard to $1.35 with Velvets and ax minor in proportion. Torlina's Bazaar will fill any man's order by giving size of room, and dimensions when correctly taken; sews the carpet to fit and ready to be put down.
When ordering state choice of colors and figure whether large or small in patterns, and you may rest assured you will be perfectly satisfied. The one price system of the Bazaar established for the past six years, enables persons miles away to buy goods at the same figures as if they were present, and a six year old boy can buy as cheap as a man. Everything is plainly marked and you can see at a glance what each article costs. Send him an order and be convinced of the low price at which goods are sold.

Human Nature.

"You want a position in my store do you, miss?" said the kind-hearted merchant. "You don't look as if you had had much experience in selling goods. I have only one place vacant now. It's in the soap department, and the salary is only $1.75 a week. But my wife informed me this morning she needed another girl in her kitchen. If you would like that place she will give you $4 a week and a good home.
Which would you prefer?"

"I'll take the soap-dish position, sir," was the haughty reply.—Chicago News.

Don't Experiment.
You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems at first only a cold.
Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all throat lung and chest affections. Trial bottles free at D. J. Brannen's drug store; large bottles, $1.

Unbounded Courage.
Railroad Superintendent (to applicant)—Have you sufficient nerve and courage to do your duty in time of danger?

Applicant (with superior smile) —Nerve and courage, sir! I just ate three of those railroad sandwiches down stairs.

Superintendent (to clerk)—Give this man an engine on the "limited" night run.—Life.

That Tired Feeling.
Afflict nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of di-ease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

A Horrible Inheritance.
The transmission of the fearful effects of contagious blood-poison is the most horrible inheritance which any man can leave to his innocent posterity. But it can be certainly mitigated and in the majority of cases, prevented by the use of the antidote which Nature furnishes, and which is found in the remedy known all over the world as Swift's Specific, commonly called "S. S. S."

Mr. J. H. Brown, of Hornellsville, N. Y., writes: "Three years I suffered with this horrible disease. Swift's Specific cured me completely."
Prof. E. W. Bear, 24 E. 2nd st., N. Y., writes: "I was a perfect wreck from a fearful case of Blood Poison." Dr. B. F. Wingfield, of the Soldier's Home, Richmond, Va., writes: "Swift's Specific cured me of a severe case of Blood Poison."

Dr. W. K. Briggs, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I was a perfect wreck from Blood Poison. Swift's Specific restored health and hope, and I am well to-day." C. W. Langhul, Savannah, Ga.: "I suffered long with Blood Poison. I tried Swift's Specific and am perfectly well." A. W. Russell, of Power's Hotel, Eche-ster, N. Y., writes: "It is the best blood remedy on earth. I cured myself with it. I recommended it to a friend and it cured him too."
Mr. E. L. Stanton, of the Smithville, (Ga.) News, writes that a friend was afflicted with a case of Blood Poison, and two bottles of S. S. S. effected a complete cure.

M'ALLISTER'S JOKE.

How He Made the Indians Believe They Had Found a Gold Mine.

Prof. McAllister, the prestidigitateur and ventriloquist, happened to be traveling across Lower Idaho some years ago, on his way from one town to another, says the St.
Louis Globe-Democrat. It was in the days of early stage-coaching, before railroads were quite so plentiful as at the present time.
The professor, one afternoon before the show commenced, in wandering about the streets of a town, was met by a redskin, mounted on the outskirts of the town a small band of Indians. Two or three companions were with him. While chatting together, looking about and observing things generally, McAllister became quite familiar with a mongrel dog owned by the redskins, whom he proceeded to pet nonchalantly.

"Fine dog," said the professor.
"Ugh," grunted the brack.
"How much you sell him for?" asked the magician.

"Eight two dollars," replied the brack, holding up a pair of dirty fingers to indicate the amount.

"His very fine dog," said McAllister, stroking the cur's back and taking a gold-piece from the tip of his nose.

"Hi hi!" exclaimed the redskin, looking on in astonishment, his eyes ready to start from his head in excitement.

"His very fine dog, indeed," quietly continued the professor, this time taking a whole handful of coin from the dog's mouth, nose and ears, which he transferred to his pockets.

Strangest noises were heard proceeding from the interior of the brack. He groaned and laughed and howled and barked, at all of which the poor, deluded redskin stood in the utmost awe and astonishment, and couldn't for the life of them understand what had come over the spirit of the animal. It was hard to tell which was the most surprised, the Indian or the dog. At
